Daiwa Health Supplement Conference

With consumers across Asia increasingly aware of health and lifestyle issues, the health supplement market is forecast to see an 8% CAGR between 2017 and 2023. Not surprisingly, companies are jostling to tap into this growing demand – some with their own brands, others making quality products for the brand companies. Our aim with this conference is to bring together related players to discuss the broad industry trends as well as their own competitive strengths. For clients, the event will be a prime opportunity to assess emerging companies and take a view on the potential winners.

Investor registration cut-off date: 14 December, Friday
